

CREDIT.

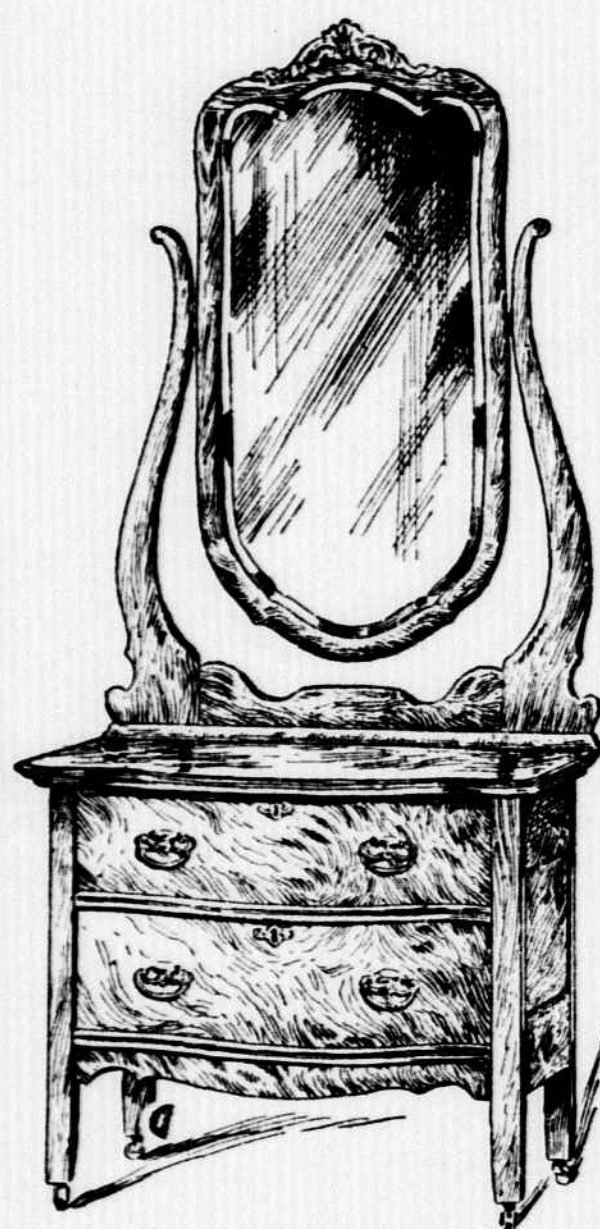

HOUSE & HERRMANN

CREDIT.

Princess Dressers

At Remarkable Sale Prices.

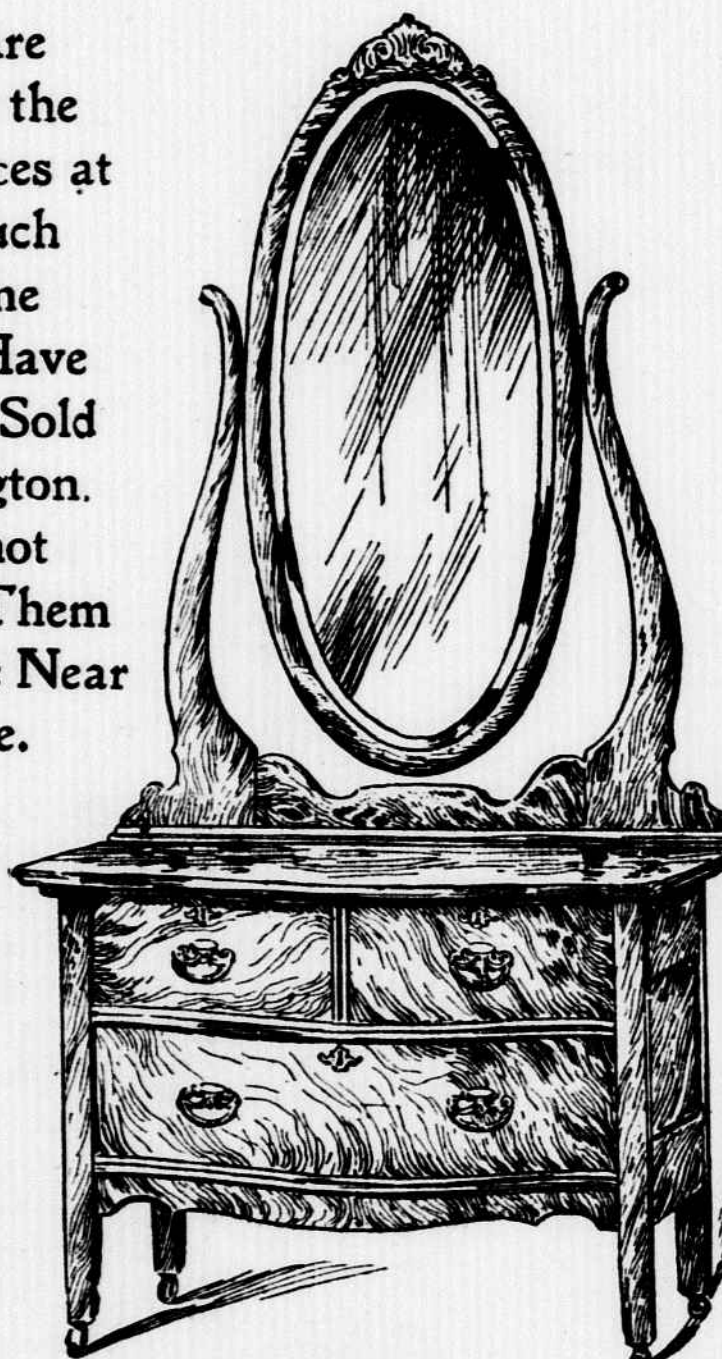

THE prices attached to these two styles of PRINCESS DRESSERS are simply astonishing! The only explanation of this is a big special purchase of these dressers at the lowest figure we ever obtained them. We give our patrons the benefit of this fortunate purchase, assuring them that these beautiful Dressers are of the best workmanship and finish, and fully equal to any we have ever offered at $20.00 to $25.00. The quantity is limited and you may count yourself extremely fortunate if you obtain them at these sale prices.

This Princess Dresser

Regular Price, $20. This dainty Dresser is particularly desirable for a young lady's room. The long dressing mirror gives a full-length view of the figure. It has shaped French bevel plate glass, 18x36 in.; full swell base, 20x33 in.; genuine quarter sawed oak and very excellent finish. One of the best bargains we have ever offered (exactly like picture at the side), $11.85.

These Are
Positively the Lowest Prices at Which Such Handsome Dressers Have Ever Been Sold in Washington.
We Cannot Duplicate Them at Anywhere Near the Price.

This Princess Dresser

Regular Price, $22. This Dresser (exactly like cut at the side) is slightly larger than the one above. It has a beautiful oval French bevel-plate mirror, 18x40 in., and full swell base, 20x38 in. There are two upper drawers, and the swinging glass gives a good view for dressing; also in genuine quarter sawed oak of handsome finish. A charming addition to the bedroom furnishings. Never before offered at such a price—$13.25.

Mattings, Go-Carts, Refrigerators, Summer Furniture.

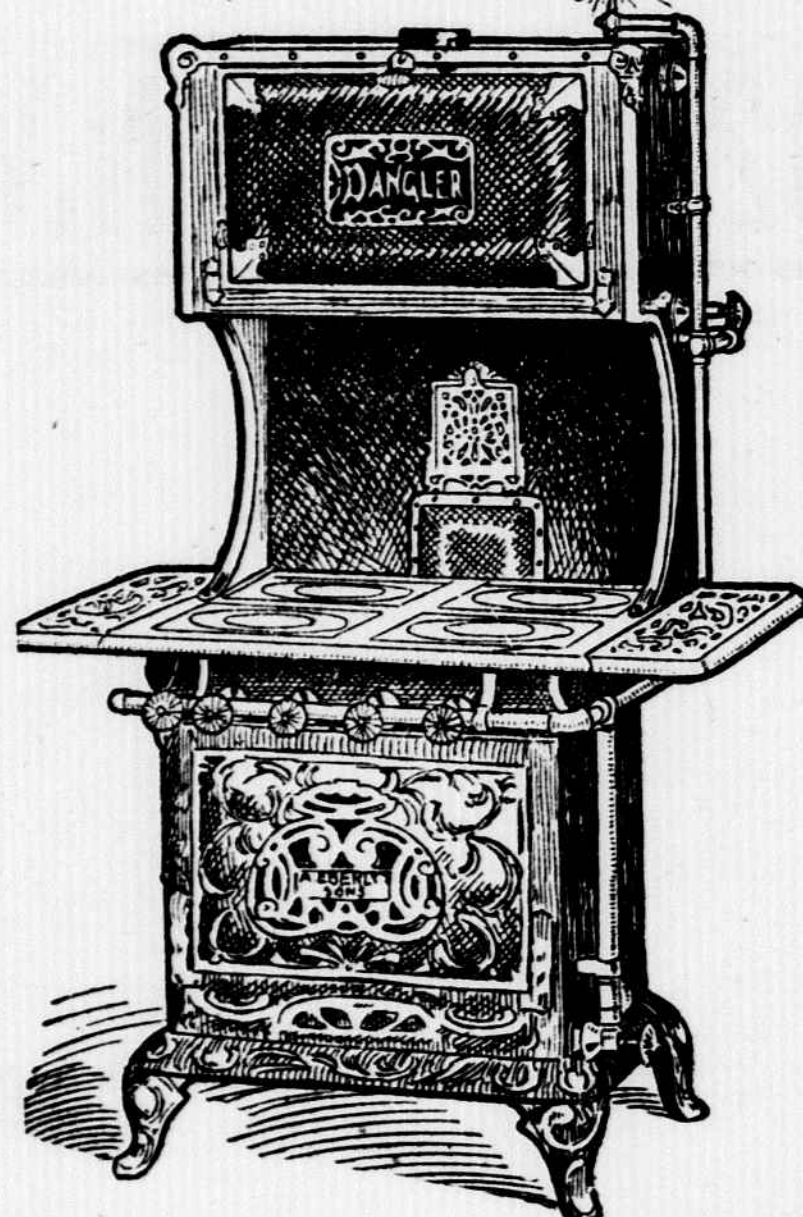

When in Doubt, Buy of

HOUSE & HERRMANN,

Seventh & I (Eye) Sts. N.W.

Something Different in a Gas Range.

Light on Range Where Most Needed.

The Most Extraordinary Gas Range Made Today.

It is a comfort to the user, and burns less fuel than any stove its size class has yet produced. "It is a pleasure to cook on our Elevated Double-oven Dangler Gas Range, and it costs so little for fuel, is the verdict of every user of this stove. It is sold as every day in our store from purchasers who have come to tell us how pleased they are with this range."

The $35 Value Elevated Double-oven $27.50
Dangler Gas Range for

An examination of the Elevated Oven will convince any one that there is nothing better on earth. This is something entirely original and makes the handsomest gas range, embodying all the modern improvements shown in any other range.

We guarantee this stove to be the best Elevated Double-oven Gas Range made, and will install one in your house complete for $27.50. "And we will make iron pipe connections FREE."

Everybody Says: "If it comes from Eberly's it's good."

A. EBERLY'S SONS,

Established Over
Half a Century. 718 7th STREET N.W.

GENERAL NEWS GATHERED ALONG THE RIVER FRONT

The three-masted schooner J. S. Hoskins, Capt. Griffin, laden with pine lumber from Tampa, Fla., arrived here yesterday in tow of the Taylor tug Camilla and was berthed at the K street wharf to await orders as to the wharf at which she will unload.

The Hoskins sailed from Tampa on May 25, and had rather a slow trip up coast. She had good weather until near the Cape of the Chesapeake, when she ran into the northeast, which did her no damage. Passing in the Cape unreported she was in the mouth of the river before a tugboat was sent from this city to bring her into port.

The vessel has aboard several hundred thousand feet of heavy lumber which will be used in building operations here.

The Kate B. Ogden, a three-masted schooner, which arrived here early in the week, is at the wharf foot of K street unloading her cargo of heavy pine timber from Charleston, S. C. After unloading here the schooner will go to a coal shipping port to load soft coal for a south Atlantic point.

The river front yesterday afternoon shortly before 6 o'clock echoed with a sound that made old rivermen think the old steamer T. V. Arrowsmith had returned from Baltimore and was once more in service on the Potomac. They heard the sound of her chime whistle blown with all its old-time clearness. The whistle of the old boat had been placed upon the Colonial Beach steamer St. Johns. It has clear notes that can be recognized a long distance. The whistle has been familiar to the river for many years and is the only chime whistle used hereabouts. It consists of three whistles that sound a very musical note that is easily remembered.

A lighter, used by the Miner Engineering Company in transporting pipe and other material used by the hydraulic dredge Gray Eagle in her work about the harbor, is at Cumberland boat house, foot of 9th street, to be rebuilt. The lighter was hauled from the water yesterday afternoon on an improvised railway. Work of tearing off the sides of the craft were started.

The lighter is to be rebuilt from the water's edge up. When it is completed and ready for service it will be practically a new boat.

Arrived—S. L. Bowen, cord wood from a river point to the dealers; schooner J. S. Hoskins, lumber from Port Tampa, Fla., to the dealers; tug Capt. Toby, towing American Consolidation Company lighter, with sulphuric-acid-making material from Quantico to Alexandria; tug Hampton, light from Norfolk after cargo for Portsmouth, Va.; schooner Eleanor Russell, lumber from a river point to the local dealers; tug Nellie, light from Piscataway creek for Sunday lay-up; tug Rosalie, with a tow of lighters from a down-river point.

Sailed—Schooner Sarah McNamara, light for a river point, to load back to this city; tug Hampton, towing barge Shenandoah, laden with paving block for Portsmouth, Va.; punky Amor, light for a lower river point, to load for this city; tug Camilla, with a tow of a down-river point; schooner Eagle, light for a down-river point, to load to this market; tug Minerva, with a tow of lighters for a down-river point.

Memoranda—Schooner Aletha Jackson has been taken to Georgetown to discharge a cargo of cord wood from a Potomac point; schooner Grace G. Bennett is on her way to this city with lumber from a North Carolina point; schooner Philip Kirkwood will go to a bay point to load lumber; schooner Mable and Ruth is under charter to load lumber at Newbern, N. C., and to return to the city; Edith Verrill is at a river point loading for this city.

The big seagoing barge Pacific of the Dougherty fleet, which is under charter to carry railway ties from Occoquan to New York, for Carter & Clark of this city, has arrived at Occoquan and begun loading. The barges Patuxent and Potomac, which unloaded coal here, were yesterday taken to Aquia creek by the tug George W. Pride, and will there load ties for northern points.

The schooner Mary Chapin is lying at the pier of the White Oak Coal Company, at the western end of the harbor, loading about forty tons of soft coal for the Colonial Beach. The schooner C. B. Shepherd is also at the White Oak pier taking aboard about thirty tons of coal for a lower river point.

In order to make room at the excursion pier of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company for the steamer Jamestown, which begins her excursion trips tomorrow, the steamer Norfolk, one of the reserve boats of the line, which has been lying in the dock used by the Jamestown, has been shifted to the 9th street wharf of the American Ice Company, as a temporary stopping place.

Cabinet Officers Motor to Gettysburg.

The Secretary of the Navy and the Attorney General left Washington yesterday afternoon for an automobile tour to Gettysburg, Pa., where they will spend today visiting the battlefield, returning during the afternoon.

Mrs. Katie Schaeffer Snook, widow of William G. Snook, formerly of Frederick county, Md., and daughter of the late David F. Schaeffer of Ladysburg, Md., is at the home of her son, Charles Snook, at Kingston, Pa. Besides four children, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary B. Schaeffer, and brother, Alton Schaeffer, of Ladysburg, and a sister, Mrs. Davidson of Hanover, Pa.

MANY A "HOYA, SAXA!"

Lusty Yells Given by Georgetown Medicos.

NEW DOCTORS CELEBRATE

Banquet Given to the Class of 1909.

EMINENT ALUMNI PRESENT

President Himmel, Vice President Macksey and Others Speak—Dr. J. T. Johnson Toastmaster.

"Hoya! Hoya! Saxa!"
"Hoya! Hoya! Georgetown!"
"Hoya! Father Himmel! Father Himmel! Father Himmel!"

This yell rang out through the windows of Rauscher's last night time and time again, from 8 o'clock until midnight, letting those who passed along Connecticut avenue know that the friends of Georgetown University were assembled about the banquet table in the large dining hall on the upper floor. In this lusty manner newly made M. D.'s, the members of the graduating class of the medical school, greeted the members of the faculty and of the alumni as they arose in turn to respond to the toasts at the dinner given by the faculty and alumni to the members of the class of 1909.

One hundred and fifty sons of Georgetown, including the president of the university, the dean of the faculty of medicine, eminent alumni and young doctors fresh from the commencement exercises, assembled at the banquet board to celebrate the completion of a year of hard work and to do honor to their alma mater.

In the center of the large hall, at a special table, sat the guests of honor, the members of the graduating class, and around them on either side of the officers of the university and the medical school were placed the alumni prominent in the profession, many of whom had received their diplomas before the boys of '09 were born.

The tables were lavishly decorated with palms, ferns and roses, and at the head sat Father Joseph Himmel, S. J., president of the university, and on his right, Dr. Joseph Johnson, who acted as toastmaster.

After the banquet was well under way Dr. Johnson congratulated the young men in the center of the room upon having completed their long course of study, and wished them every success in their chosen profession. He then called on Father Himmel as the president of Georgetown University, "and, above all, the real friend of the medical school."

President Himmel's Remarks.

As their president arose to address them he was greeted with tremendous applause and with the first of the many "Hoyas" that hailed each succeeding speaker. Father Himmel expressed his pleasure at being able to speak at once to the young and the old, the two extremes of Georgetown's sons, "those who have already gained distinction in the world and those who are about to set out to do so." He told the members of the class of 1909 that right around the banquet table they had excellent examples before them that they could not do better than to emulate their seniors in Georgetown's alumni.

After these few words he said he would yield the floor to the vice president of the university, who had been selected to make the real address to the class.

Father Charles Macksey followed Father Himmel in responding to "Our University." He said that, like Cornell, the mother of the Gracchi, Georgetown considered her sons her greatest jewels. He added that in the large flock that the university had sent forth to the world there were very few black sheep, and that none of them so far had been found in the medical school. There is not a doctor that ever left the college, he said, who did not reflect credit on his alma mater. He warned the graduates that the assurance that they would be men of ideas and of idealism. He spoke of the nobility of the profession of the physician, who attends the new born babe and the aged and infirm, and watching the last pulse beat.

Georgetown's purpose, he said, embodied in the words on her seal, she strives to combine religion and knowledge, to serve God and man at the same time.

Other Toasts.

Dr. Nicholas A. Gallagher, president of the class, responded to the toast, "The Medical Class of 1909." He expressed the sincere gratitude of the class for the instruction it had received from the members of the faculty.

Dr. J. J. Madegan also responded for the class and discussed the spirit of comradeship that had always existed between the faculty and students of the Georgetown medical school.

Dr. Thomas J. Mynock, the only graduate of the dental school, 1909, also made much amusement by declaring that the class was very grateful for the kindness that the members of the faculty had always shown "them."

Dr. S. W. Boles of the dental faculty, who recently received the honorary degree of doctor of dental surgery, spoke for the faculty and outlined the progress of dentistry from a trade and art to a science.

Prof. William H. Wilmer spoke on "The Medical School of Georgetown," giving a brief sketch of its history since its foundation in 1852. He referred to many of the more prominent members of the alumni, and each name mentioned was applauded.

Prof. Walter A. Wells spoke to the class on choosing a specialty. He cautioned the graduates not to choose a specialty too early in their careers, but to wait until they had acquired a good general knowledge of medicine.

List of Those Present.

Among those present were: Thomas J. Mayock, D. D. S., and Drs. James K. Donoghue, Bernard Glueck, Dwight Dickinson, Jr., Charles Paul Durney, Leo F. Crowley, H. E. Gaynor, Harry C. Dew, Charles E. Roche, Charles P. Bangle, J. J. Madegan and Nicholas A. Gallagher, all of the class of 1909. Father Joseph Himmel, S. J., president of Georgetown University; Dr. George M. Kober, dean of the medical school; Dr. Taber Johnson, vice president of medical faculty; Rev. Charles Macksey, prefect of studies; Prof. W. H. Wilmer, Dr. William F. Byrne, class of '78; Dr. Thomas S. Smith, class of '64; Dr. Frank Baker, Dr. B. W. Gummy, Dr. W. M. Barton, Dr. W. R. Spivey, Dr. William R. Goodman, Dr. C. R. Lafour, Dr. J. D'Arcy Magee, Dr. William S. Dixon, U. S. N., Dr. Samuel C. Watkins, Dr. William A. White, Dr. Charles J. Griffith, Dr. George Barrie, Dr. James A. Gannon, Dr. J. Russell Verbyck, Jr., Dr. John A. Foote, Dr. E. W. Reiser, Dr. George J. Lochboeher, Dr. J. P. Moran, Dr. P. P. Hunt, Dr. Charles M. Hammett, Dr. C. S. Stone, Dr. Baruch I. Roth, Dr. John A. Johnson, Dr. John S. Reppitt, Dr. C. D. Haas, Dr. Alfred Richards, Dr. Frank W. Romaine, Dr. J. H. Walker, Dr. B. B. Johnson, Dr. W. C. Woodward, Dr. Samuel S. Adams, Dr. Louis C. Lehr, Dr. W. P. Reeves, Dr. Frank Lee Blasco, Dr. George L. Lachner, Dr. E. C. Schneide, Dr. Thomas F. Lowe.

PARKER, BRIDGET & CO., "Ninth and the Avenue."

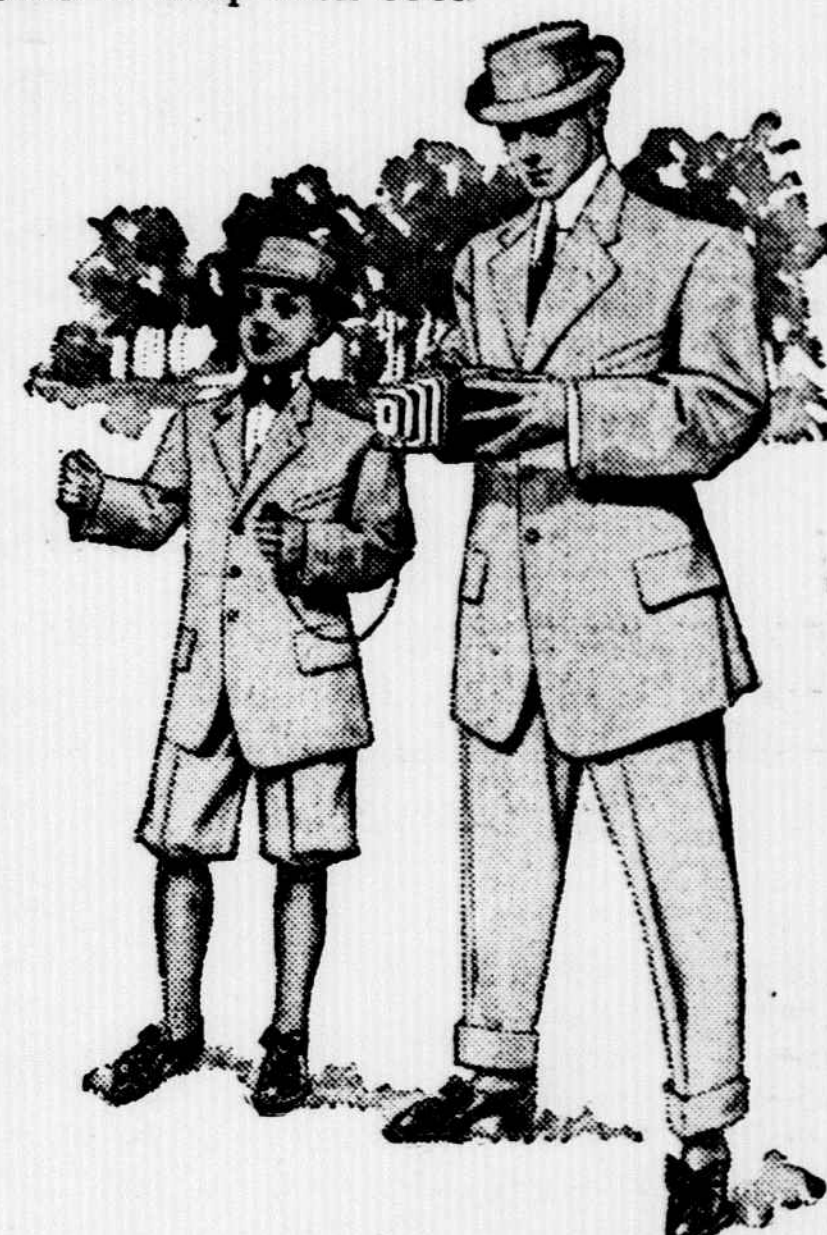

Keeping Cool Is the Secret of Summer Optimism

—and we are ready with the clothes to keep men cool.

You won't have to worry and fume and doubt in choosing your Summer Suit here. We'll show you the very one you have in mind in just a jiffy and you can buy it with confidence that it's the maximum of style and value for your money.

If it's a serge you want, here are racks and stacks of them in both plain and fancy effects, at $15 and up.

Perhaps you prefer a soft chevrot or smooth worsted—here they are in pleasing designs past description. Great values at $20 and $25. Plenty of good styles and qualities at $15 and $18 if you prefer something less expensive. Scores of suits at the various prices. You can't help finding what you want and you can't help getting a GOOD suit here.

Straw Hats. The finest, freshest stock in the city. If it's to be English, don't you know, our Henry Heath at $5 is what you want.

At $2 and $3, here are our American-made "Ramo" and "Omar" straw. Or, if you want a light and long-lasting Panama, choose among many styles at from $3 to $15.

Summer Shirts. The best way to discover what a remarkable summer shirt stock we have is to try to pick the prettiest one in the collection. You'll probably wind up by taking a half dozen or more. Uncommonly good values at $1.50.

"Teck" Oxfords. Summer comfort for the feet is found in our splendid "Teck" Oxfords. And they are more than comfortable. They have just the dash in style that good dressers want and can't find in other low-cuts. The line at $4 is especially popular. Sold exclusively here.

Head-to-Foot
Outfitters.

Parker, Bridget & Co.

Ninth and the Avenue.

STIRRED UP PATRIOTISM.

Effect of the Recent Trip of the Mississippi in Southern Waters.

Capt. J. C. Fremont of the battleship Mississippi, which had returned to Philadelphia from her trip up the Mississippi river as far as Natchez, in his report to the Navy Department declares one of the most important results of the cruise, he considers, was the evident effect on the sentiment of the people toward the government. The vessel was an evidence of its power, and the wish to please them seemed to have awakened an enthusiasm and patriotism which was undoubtedly there, but dormant, and this sentiment found expression in the receptions and ovations which were tendered the ship continually over a period of three weeks with unabated fervor, reaching its fitting climax at Natchez, where it was marked by the return of the battle flag captured from the U. S. S. Petrel.

This latter episode was mostly inspired by the fact that Grand Army posts had returned their captured flags to the Confederate organization to which they belonged. Capt. Fremont says he believes the effect of the trip to the navy will be one of great and lasting benefit in the minds of all the southern section of the country.

Capt. Fremont attributes the success of the cruise, in which there were so many changes of command, and which was accomplished on scheduled time, and with apparent ease, to have been largely due to the excellent manner in which the motive and steering mechanism stood up under the unusual strain, and to the willing and hearty assistance that was given by the crew, and the personnel of the ship, but by every official, especially those of the Engineer Corps.

BEATS SHERLOCK HOLMES.

But the Police Doubt Harris' Power to Detect Crime.

Declaring that he possesses the power to draw criminals to him, a man giving the name of Charles G. Harris of Gridley, Cal., called at the first precinct police station last night and later visited police headquarters, where he revealed some of the "marvelous" gifts he possessed, and as a result of his efforts he was returned to the station house, where he was locked up pending an examination by the police surgeons regarding his sanity.

The prisoner who calls himself the "Honorable Charles G. Harris," and says his grandparents were persons of the California forty-niners and his family one of the oldest in Virginia, arrived in Washington during the latter part of last month. He registered at a local hotel, where he remained until his $75 draft was spent. He has called at police headquarters on several occasions, but it was not until last night that he wanted to tell of his high powers. He stated that the entire west there is a secret organization composed of criminals which has a secret password. He says his powers draw him to these criminals so that he is able to give the police information regarding them.

Harris last night related to Detectives Beaman and Cox how he was walking along a street in South Washington when his high powers suddenly drew him toward a house, which, he stated, showed him that a den of criminals was located at the place. These criminals, he said, are members of the western secret organization. He told the police that there were thousands of the members of the organization in Washington.

Since he has been in this city, Harris told the police, he went out into Maryland looking for work, and members of the criminal secret organization sent bloodhounds after him.

"I hid in a blackberry bush," said

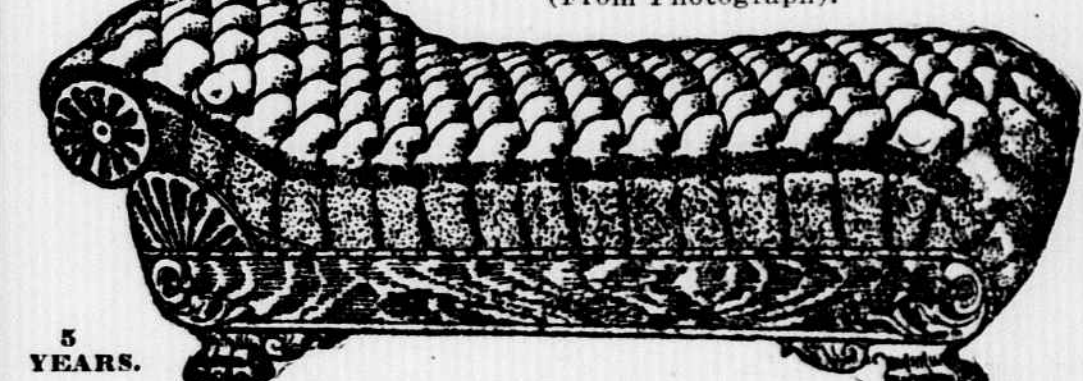

Special 10-Day Offer

To the Readers of The Washington Star.
This is the first opportunity ever offered you to purchase Morris Furniture at the wholesale factory price and on small weekly payments.

We Offer for 10 Days Only This Handsome Guaranteed Boston Leather Couch, $18.75
At Wholesale Factory Price of

50c NO CASH PAYMENT DOWN 50c
WEEKLY UNTIL PAID.

GUARANTEED WE ALLOW FREIGHT CHARGES.
EXACTLY LIKE ILLUSTRATION
(From Photograph.)

Description: Hair and tow filled; steel springs; hand-built throughout; open sanitary construction; plain or diamond tufting; your choice of golden oak, mahogany, mission or weathered oak frames; 6 feet 3 inches long, 30 inches wide. SEND ORDER BY MAIL.

If you are not thoroughly pleased, merely return at our expense—otherwise send us 50c weekly (or $1 every two weeks) until paid.

MORRIS FURNITURE MFG. CO., 147 West 23d Street, New York.

INCLOSE THIS ADVERTISEMENT WITH YOUR ORDER.
Wash. Star. 6-13-09.

FOURTH AT BLOOMINGDALE.

Big Doings, With Athletics and Pyrotechnics, Are on Carpet.

Citizens of Bloomingdale held a Fourth of July celebration last year on a small scale. It was so well received that they will spread this year on a two-hour display of fireworks in the evening.

The event will be on McDewitt's Field, Rhode Island avenue and 24 street northeast. The program will start at 10 o'clock in the morning with a three-mile marathon race followed by a base ball game.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a series of all kinds for boys and girls of all ages, pie-eating contest, athletic feats, etc., another ball game, with toy balloon ascensions at 5 o'clock and fireworks at 8. Prizes will be offered for all the events.

Some one on each square in the vicinity has been authorized to receive contributions, which are coming in rapidly. The residents have been cautioned not to make contributions to any one they do not know except on presentation of a properly signed certificate of authority.

An expert has been secured to furnish the fireworks display and personal safety is assured. The field will be roped off and police officers stationed to prevent dangerous proximity to the fireworks or handling the same.

A grandstand has been erected which will seat nearly, if not quite, all the ladies in attendance. A crowd of from 3,000 to 5,000 will be provided for on the field. As McDewitt's Field is on a high hill, a large number in the immediate vicinity will be able to view the fireworks from their homes.

Charles F. Teter of Philippi, W. Va., has formally announced his candidacy for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Nathan Bay Scott.